

MISS ANTIOCH TO BE CHOSEN AT SUMMER FESTIVAL

Winner Will Compete at Waukegan for Grand Prize

Keen interest is developing in the first annual Summer Festival and Bathing Beauty Contest to be held at the Antioch Palace on three nights, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, August 19, 20, and 21, backed by the Antioch Post of the American Legion.

So far the committee is well pleased with the entries of local beauties and, if they keep coming, there is a probability that the contest will be extended so that two girls will be selected to represent the region in the Waukegan event, one as Miss Antioch and the other to represent one of the lakes. Entries can be sent in as late as midnight, Thursday, August 18th.

The chances of getting in on $500 in prizes, going to Waukegan and entering the big contest, and slugging up with Paul Ash's revue in Chicago are enough to induce all of the girls in the community to enter this big show.

Members of the committee state that participation in this contest involves no obligation on the part of the contestant whatever. There are no tickets to be sold, votes to be solicited, or anything of the sort.

"Indications are that a throng of people not equalled at any one time and place in the lake region this season will be present to see this new and novel event," said a member of the committee. The legion has secured the services of three very prominent residents of the community to act as judges of the contest.

Funeral Services of Ralph Davis Held At Randall Thursday

Ralph Charles Davis, the ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Davis, died Thursday afternoon at the home in Randall. The child had been ill for three days and a heart attack Thursday afternoon proved fatal.

Ralph was a student of fourth grade at the Randall school and was popular with his classmates and teacher.

He is survived by his parents, four sisters, Myrtle, Ruby, Esther and Mary Jane, and one brother, Lawrence.

Funeral services were held at the home in Randall at two o'clock on Sunday afternoon with Rev. C. Randall of Silverlake officiating. Mrs. Guy Loftis and Mrs. Chas. Schultz accompanied by Mrs. Fred Faulkner sang the following selections: "Sometime We Will Understand," "Nearer Still Nearer," and "God Will Take Care Of You." A group of his schoolmates consisting of Edna Peterson, Earl Elfers, Preston Stoen, Franklin Reynolds, Adolph Flegel and Robert Peterson acted as pall bearers. Interment was in the Wilmet cemetery.

Among the relatives who came for the funeral services were Mr. and Mrs. George Davis and family, and Mrs. Ralph Davis and children from Madison, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles York from Harvard.

Woman's Club To Give Big Card Party Soon

The Antioch Woman's club are planning an elaborate and interesting social function to take place at the Antioch Palace Monday afternoon, August 22nd. Tickets will be sold for Bridge, "500" and Bunco, and the ladies anticipate that this will be one of the biggest events of the sort ever staged in the community.

The proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the club's Library and Endowment Funds. It was reported last week by the News that the Tag Day for the Library fund had netted the organization $6.00. The report should have read $69.00 in place of $6.00. However, even the latter sum is insufficient to meet the needs of the Library budget.

LURE OF THE LAKE REGION IS TOLD BY CHICAGO PAPER

Daily News Lauds Many Attractions of Lake Region

CHICAGO PAPERS PRAISE LAKES

That the lure of Antioch and the lake region is recognized far and wide was evidenced by an article printed last week in one of the leading Chicago papers. The writer says: "The Chicago business man who likes to put in an afternoon or evening, or week end doing some casting for bass or pike can hop in his car, or take a train in town and take his pick of a lot of small lakes in Lake county, northern Illinois. Good hard, smooth cement roads all the way and fine train service. The man who drives his own car has no bus fare from station to lake and return to pay.

Take Antioch for instance — only fifty-five miles from Chicago — less than two hours ride by bus, auto, or train. Surrounded by forty-two lakes—large and small. Take along your little outboard motor and ride through lakes Channel, Catherine, Bluff, Marie, Grass, Fox, Pettie, Pistakee and Long, up Fox river to Wilmet, and down to Melleny. This will give you a ride of fifty miles through some nice scenery.

"A trifle over a mile from Antioch is Lake Marie, with water channels connecting with Bluff, Grass, Catherine, and other lakes. Marie always give up some big mouth bass and northern pike, as well as a mess of blue gills or crappies to skillful anglers who know how to find the right road beds, and when to fish and what lures to use.

"With so many channels leading to other lakes and the Fox River, Lake Marie will never be fished out. There are several good hotels on the lake, Dressel's and Beverly furnish good boats and meals. Fish Lake in the early mornings or evenings, or on cloudy days. The Soo Line railway to Antioch or good cement roads all the way. From 6 till 9 o'clock p. m. try a surface bait over the feed beds, a pork chunk or a Dicken's weedless wonder."

Fifty Wayward Drivers Taken During Month, Cop's Report Shows

Speed Cases Top List of Violators — Drunken Driver Fined $50.

Tendency to "step on the gas" in Antioch landed 39 motorists in the toils of the law during the month of July, according to Motor Police Frank Valenta's report submitted to the village board last week. The report shows that a total of fifty arrests were made during the month, including in addition to the 39 speed cases, 4 disorderly conduct charges, 4 light violations, 2 license irregularities, 1 open cut-out, and 1 drunken driver arrest.

Favorite speed of the fellows who were in a hurry was around 35 miles per hour; some opened up for 40, while Theo. Vombrach of Chicago showed the natives what 50 looked like and paid $500 for the privilege before Justice Tarbell.

Six of the speed cases were reported dismissed and one was continued.

Three violators who gave their addresses as Antioch paid fines during the month, two for fast driving and one for license and light violations.

II. Hollitz, Desplaines, taken July 31 for driving while intoxicated had his case continued but has since settled by his payment of $50 and costs before Judge Tarbell. Total fines collected during July amounted to $173.00. Justice Sam Tarbell meted out justice to 37 offenders, while Police Magistrate II. Gelstrup presided in 13 cases.

Trespassers on Route 59 To Be Punished

The practice of driving on portions of route 59 not open to traffic must stop, according to the statement of the resident state highway engineer, Archie Urdangen. He added that two motor cops from Sheriff Doolittle's force were on the job and anyone disregarding the prohibition would be arrested and dealt with to the full extent of the law.

The portion of the highway between Lehmann's Corners and Pitman's road is now open and an additional section extending to Grass Lake road is scheduled to be opened Saturday, August 20.

Edinger is to fill the post made vacant by the action of the county board of supervisors in selecting Jay B. Morse, former chief clerk, to fill the recess appointment as county treasurer.

COMMITTEE SEEKS SETTLEMENT OF FOX DAM DISPUTE

Pistakee Lake Site Meets With Favor of County Residents

A group of citizens, residents of the region, who are interested in the problem of maintaining the proper lake levels, and J. C. James, local member of the Fox River Conservancy board, left this morning for McHenry to look the situation over and make an investigation into conditions affecting the utilization of the $185,000 appropriation made by the last legislature for the construction of dams in the Fox River.

The board of county supervisors, at their meeting last week, went on record as favoring the immediate building of the new dam, and repair of the old as necessary measures in the control of the lake levels. A committee composed of supervisors Frank Stanton, Ray Paddock, H. F. Naber, Harry Stratton and Edward Brown was appointed to bring all possible influence to bear to get work started on the building of the dam.

McHenry Dam Inadequate

Information set before the board established the fact that the old dam at McHenry is, at the present time, leaking at the rate of 500 cubic feet of water per minute and the result is that the water levels in Grass and Channel Lakes, Lake Marie and other lakes in the townships of Antioch, Grant, Lake Villa, Avon and Wauconda are going down each year from 18 to 25 inches.

Objections to the construction of the new dam were raised by citizens of McHenry county on the grounds that the dam should be built at a point near McHenry. In view of the fact that a much greater area is involved in Lake county than in McHenry county, it is considered scarcely probable that the obstructionist tactics resorted to by McHenry county residents will prove successful.

8 Inch Raise Not Enough

State engineers and those acquainted with lake conditions have established the fact that a dam, to maintain the lake waters at their natural level, will have to be located in Fox River at a point a short distance below Pistakee lake. Tests made recently established the fact that the best that could be done to raise the waters in the chain of lakes by means of the old dam at McHenry is about 8 inches, whereas a raise of from two to three feet will be necessary to maintain the proper levels. This is necessary in order to stabilize holdings of property along the many lakes affected, to

Speed Boat Races Attract Big Crowd To Long Lake Sunday

Speed boat races on Long Lake last Sunday attracted a number of entrants both from the upper lakes and Pistakee and were witnessed by a large audience.

Because of the low water boats from Pistakee were brought by auto. The East Fox Lake contingent was piloted through Squaw Creek Canal by W. Dickens with Captain Hans Erickson at the wheel of his speed boat, the Miss Alice.

Commodore Margrath handled the flag and the Long Lake band provided the music for the occasion.

The return races will be run over the Mineola course on Sunday, Aug. 14th. The races are open to the public.

NEW LAKE STREET PAVEMENT IS NOW OPEN TO TRAFFIC

Mayor S. E. Pollock Made Official Trip on New Road Saturday

The new pavement on Lake street was officially opened to traffic Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. Mayor S. E. Pollock commandeered Wm. A. Rosling's Studebaker car to make the first trip over the new cement.

Because the road could not be opened to heavy traffic until the 19th, traffic officers were located at each end of the street to keep off trucks until that date.

The pavement on Victoria and Harden streets, completed after the paving of Lake street, will be closed for a few days longer. Progress has been made on Depot street, the first section being entirely completed and the next section under way. A public hearing will be given the Johnston street project next Tuesday evening.

make it possible for motor boats to operate between the lakes, to ensure the continued existence of the region as a summer resort area and to maintain a satisfactory sanitary condition in the lake district.

"If the new dam were to be located at McHenry as the people of that county desire," said Representative Weiss in explaining the condition to the county board, "it would mean that people in the vicinity of Johnsburg would be flooded out, while other sections would not have sufficient water. If the old dam at McHenry is required, as is the present plan, and one is built in Lake county, the water levels in all of the lakes, both in Lake and McHenry counties will be the needed and desired depths."

CHOOSE ANDERSON TO HEAD CORONA FOUNTAIN PEN CO.

Re-finances Janesville Concern and Brings Factory to Antioch

It is seldom that a manufacturing concern involving finances in excess of $100,000 is moved from one location to another, yet that is just what was accomplished recently through the efforts of Mr. Chas. K. Anderson, when the local financier re-organized and re-financed the Corona Pen company of Janesville, Wis., and caused the change of the location of the factory site from the Wisconsin city to Antioch, Illinois.

Facing financial difficulties, officials of the Corona company, manufacturers of non-leakable, non-breakable fountain pens, sought the assistance of Mr. Anderson, who maintains his Chicago office at 134 North LaSalle Street. Knowing the excellence of the company's product, Mr. Anderson saw his chance—a factory for Antioch. As a result of his efforts a new and modern daylight factory for producing the best fountain pen on the market, is now under construction on North avenue, Antioch, and it is expected that on or about Oct. 1, the Company will move to its new site. The new corporation, to which $100,000 of capital has been added, will function as the Corona Pen company of Antioch, Illinois.

Officers Selected

Officers for the newly formed corporation have been selected as follows: President, C. K. Anderson, Secretary and Treasurer, F. L. Silvestron. Vice President, G. C. Olin. With the personal attention and financial backing of Mr. Anderson, the Corona Pen Company should enjoy an efficient and prosperous business, the financier's friends declare, as he had been more than successful as one of the country's ablest business men and a prominent factor in the manufacturing world.

Anderson Prominent Organizer

He was the organizer and for many years the president of the American Wire Fabrics company, one of the largest makers of screen cloth in the United States, and one of the organizers and first president of the National Standard Company of Niles, Michigan, sole producers of woven wire bend and tape used in the manufacture of automobile tires. He helped to organize and is the president of the First National bank of Antioch, Illinois. He can think in millions as well as dollars and enjoys an enviable reputation of bringing success to anything he undertakes, in spite of his wealth and success he has retained a simplicity which is a part of his charm, and he is a "square shooter." He is fearless in the face of changing business conditions and will bring to any industry he serves an intelligence, efficiency and manufacturing skill provocative of success.

The Forward Look

TOMORROW'S telephone requirements must be foreseen today; the service of the future must be provided for in the present.

In the America of tomorrow new industries will develop, trade will increase, residential sections will replace the vacant areas of today. There must be new telephone buildings and switchboards; millions of miles of new wire and cable; yet a larger army of men and women to build and operate the ever increasing facilities; more and more trained executives to manage and direct.

It costs about $385,000,000 a year to keep ahead of America's demand for telephone service. If this vast sum is to be spent wisely and efficiently, future demands must be forecast with as much precision as is humanly possible so that materials, money, manpower will not be lacking when the need comes. Only through the forward look is the telephone kept ready to meet the growing demands of a growing nation.

ANTIOCH LOSES GAME TO BOOSTERS

Over Anxiety to Win Brings Locals
Short End of 6 to 9 Score
In Sunday's Game

Over anxiety to beat the strong Coover Boosters and thus advance themselves to second position in the league led the locals to drop a game to the visitors Sunday in a hard but far from errorless game with an adverse score of 6 to 9. The win advanced the Boosters to what amounts practically to a tie with the West Side A. C. for top place. Round Lake also was defeated so the locals retain their percentage for third place, with 10 wins and 5 losses and a percentage of 66.

Morley pitched good ball, loose support and poor baseball being responsible for the many scores. Antioch knocked Selenik out of the box in the fifth but Waagman, former high school star, held the locals. He had one of the best flatters glimpsed by local batters this season.

Simpson, Sullivan, Morley, W. Steinfinger, each made two hits for Antioch and Halwas got 1 hit and 2 walks. Selenik, Jardee and Zupancic led the hitting for Waukegan. The game was exceptionally well umpired by Joe Miller of Waukegan.

The Foresters are scheduled to be here next Sunday. While Antioch defeated them easily earlier in the season, they have been coming with a rush lately having defeated the league's leading West Side A. C. recently by a score of 4 to 1 in a game in which their star pitcher, Hedden allowed only 3 hits. Last Sunday's crowd was very poor, and the team are in need of support of every baseball fan in the community in order to end the season without a deficit.

GENERAL MOTORS A. C. PICNIC AT IDELHOOR

More than 200 employees of the Chicago branch of the General Motors Acceptance Corporation spent the day at Idelhour park last Saturday. TRY A WANT AD

Ford's New Car To Have Six Models

That the new Ford car, long expected and awaited, will be introduced to the public within three weeks was unofficially reported the first of the week.

The new car, it is said, will have a standard gear shift with clutch and what is in reality a small sized Lincoln transmission, instead of the old planetary system. The engine has a larger bore and longer stroke and will develop speed of fifty-five miles an hour in second gear and sixty-eight miles an hour in high. Four wheel brakes, wire wheels and balloon tires are to be standard equipment.

The new car, it is reported, will sell for from $30 to $50 more than the present model and will appear in almost any color combination the buyer desires.

The motor is four cylinder, L head type cast in block, with a 3 1/2-inch bore and a 4 1/2-inch stroke, developing 2,500 to 2,700 revolutions a minute. A high gear ratio gives the car its speed. The timer, the bugle of Ford owners, is replaced with a Lincoln type distributor. There will be no part of the new Ford interchangeable with parts of model T, it is said, the car being entirely new.

The car will appear in six models: Sport roadster, business and sport coupes, tudor and fordor sedans and touring cars, and a top truck.

Constable Chas. Hall of Gurnee pursued and overtook a Maxwell car in a field west of the village on last Thursday which, upon its surrender by the driver who made his escape through the fields, was found to be loaded with stolen goods. It was presumed that both car and goods had been stolen and that the driver was taking the goods to Chicago to be disposed of in some pawn shop there.

400° EXTRA DRY

SHELL GASOLINE

A Success
From the Start

Superior and Costs no More

SHELL Continues to Lead the Way!!

Constant betterment is the spirit of the day. And nowhere is this so strikingly illustrated as in the modern motor car.

Compare the automobile of the present—its beauty of line, its swift, silent motor, its comforts and conveniences—with that of former years.

As motors have changed in speed, stroke and bore, there has arisen a need for an improved gasoline to meet these changed conditions.

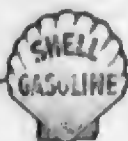

SHELL answers the call with 400° "Extra Dry," the first basic improvement in gasoline quality that has been made in years—and at no advance in price.

It's your old favorite—SHELL—brought to a higher specific gravity—a higher degree of power and perfection—by lowering the "end point" to 400°.

The success of this wonder gasoline has surpassed all expectations—taxing the capacity of the three great SHELL refineries to supply the demand. Shell users are enthusiastic in their praise—thousands who have never before used Shell are flocking to Shell Stations and Shell Dealers for the greatest gasoline value on the market.

If YOU want to know the reason for this success—if YOU want to realize the full possibilities of your car—in increased speed, power, response and all-around improved performance—"Change to Shell."

Explaining What
"400 End Point" Means

The Improved SHELL Way
Takes Only The GASOLINE
from the CRUDE

The old way (437° End Point)—the one in general use—takes the gasoline from the crude with part of the heavier and less volatile elements.

The SHELL way (400° End Point) takes only the cream of the crude—producing a higher gravity gasoline—extra dry, clean burning and wonderfully powerful and effective.

THE STORY

CHAPTER I.—From the comfortable financial situation to which he had been born, Peter Milman, American gentleman of the old school, and last of his family, is practically reduced to poverty through the misfortune of a friend, Hassen Brewster, whom he had unwisely trusted.

CHAPTER II.—Learning of Brewster's misfortune, which means the destruction of his last hope, Milman engages a French tutor, Achille Luty, who speaks no English, and is to replace Hassen, very much of long standing. By Luty, Milman sends letters to Prof. Fleming Bradley, Floyd Malet and Neeland Barnes, men whom the world has classed as failures, once of high position. In response, the three call on him at his home.

"A great deal more," said Milman. "Recent exposures of conditions in the building trades make it easier to understand. The man who offered Mr. Bradley a bribe to pass poor construction was not acting for himself. He was a subcontractor who would have made possibly a few hundreds out of it. He was acting for the inevitable 'man higher up,' who in this case was Paul Raxon. Perhaps you have heard of him?"

"Not the man who downed International Motors?" Neeland Barnes cried.

"Yes. I know a great deal about Paul Raxon. I have followed his career with deep interest. It was Paul Raxon who decreed Professor Bradley's fall. He was used to breaking men who defied him. Of course, we shall never get evidence of this. The subcontractor, whose living depended upon Raxon's favor, would never tell. There was one man who believed in Professor Bradley when the inquiry was started. This was the anonymous donor of the hundred thousand dollars."

"I heard of that," Bradley said. "and I begged him to give his name so that I could thank him. I have often vowed if ever it were possible to do something for him I would, but that's unlikely. What could I do, who made a bare livelihood?" Bradley surveyed his garb with scorn. "No decent man-servant would admit me to his master's house. I look what I am—a failure, and yet, God knows, not a cent of that money stuck to my fingers. What on earth should I want money for except for my work?"

"This Paul Raxon," Milman continued, "is one of the ablest men in New York. No decent man has a chance when pitted against him and his accomplices. He is not of the usual contractor class. He began life as an architect, but always desired wealth, and found his profession too slow a method to gain it. Yes," Milman said in a slow, meditative way, "I know a great deal about him. I even subscribe to a clipping bureau, so that I may miss nothing. You will be surprised to hear that I had him followed for a long time by a private detective."

"May I ask why?" Bradley returned. "I shall tell you presently. Let me speak first of the misfortunes, equally undeserved, which befell Mr. Floyd Malet."

The sculptor quashed. "I don't think anyone but myself knows what they were."

"There you are wrong," Milman corrected gently. "A dozen years ago America discovered that Mr. Malet was a genius. Some of you may have seen the heroic figure of Stonewall Jackson at Raleigh. That made him."

"I remember now," Neeland Barnes exclaimed. "There was some sort of wild studio party where a woman was killed. I don't see how that could hurt an artist." Neeland Barnes had formed his opinion of the morals of artists from the fiction writing of sentimental women. "Surely that wouldn't put him down and out?"

"It did," Malet answered bitterly. "A sculptor depends—in this country, at all events—on commissions from public bodies, many of whom have women among them. When my name was mentioned it was deemed unwise to employ me to decorate buildings consecrated to drama, literature, or the arts. Even politics had to be protected from my impure touch! I lost the award I had been definitely promised for a statehouse because my morals were—so the report ran—loose. My failure was just as complete as that of Professor Bradley. I had a little money, and that went in lawyers' fees. My friends were few and not influential.

"Like Alfred Gilbert, I destroyed what I thought was poor, and that is why there are not three of my works left in the world today. I have failed, but I could have done good work if the incredible had not happened."

"As I remember, the thing was rather—er—delicate," Barnes said.

"You shall judge. A poor girl accosted me on the street and said she was starving. To one who had lived so long in Paris, it was nothing out of the way to take a hungry gamine to my studio and give her a meal and a little money. I remember it was late at night, and I first saw her on a bench in Bryant park just as the first snow of the year began to fall. I was selfish enough to think her thin, draped figure would do for one of the models of a group I had in mind which was to be called 'Winter.' She told me something of her history. It was commonplace. I had heard it before. I do not mean it was not true. I mean, rather, that it was the usual story of the ambitious girl trusting too well the man who defers to marry her."

"I know," said Neeland Barnes wisely. "I know. Waiting for the divorce." "She shrank from going up in the elevator because she was so shabby, so I helped her up the long flights to my studio. She fainted when she got there, and I gave her brandy. She was so ill that I wanted to send for a doctor. Instead she used the telephone. I did not hear the number, but I knew it must be to the man she spoke. Very reluctantly he agreed to come and see her. I think the fact that I insisted on speaking was the cause. Perhaps he imagined I knew his name and more about him."

"Then you didn't know who he was?"

Floyd Malet shook his head. "Nor do I now, but I remember him distinctly. He was a thin man with a black mustache and brown eyes with red flecks in them. I knew he was a man who had been successful with women. I met him at the entrance. He wore a fur coat whose collar concealed his face. Outside it was still snowing hard. I judged him to be one used to getting his own way. I did not like his manner. There was a snarl in it. Perhaps my studio—your know what a dirty, unluxurious place a sculptor's workshop is—did not impress him. The girl had died while I was waiting for him. He cried out that it was a trick I had played him. Then he ran out for a doctor and the police." Malet shrugged his shoulders. "I never saw him again. Sometimes I wonder if he was run over and killed, or if, when he found I did not know his name and did not find any letters in the girl's pocket, he left me to bear the blame."

"I sent for a doctor, who in turn sent for the police. When I told them the story of the man with the fur coat whose face I could not see distinctly, whose name I did not know, and of whose address I was unaware, I could see they thought me lying. And when I told them the girl had not taken the elevator, I could see they thought it was a vulgar intrigue."

"But the man with the fur coat didn't walk up," Neeland Barnes reminded him.

"But the elevator boy denied having seen him," Malet explained. "It was my word against his. The record of the telephone call could not be traced. I made a bad witness. Nobody identified the girl, and as I admitted giving her brandy, the thing was treated in the papers as a drunken debauch, and I was marked as a Parisian decadent. It was my finish."

Malet sank down in his chair. The sensitive face was marked by suffering. The stamp of realized failure seemed upon him. Bradley leaned forward and put an arm about the bowed shoulder of the smaller man. It was a protective, brotherly action born of sudden sympathy and understanding. But he had nothing to say.

Malet shivered a little as a light wind swept along the little garden. He rose from his chair and held out his hand to his host.

"You have made me forget and you have made me remember," he said. "I am grateful, Mr. Milman."

"But I cannot let you go yet," said the other. "There should be some cedar logs already blazing in the drawing room." He turned to the others. "We shall find it more agreeable in the house." He put his arm in that of the sculptor. "Never think you are a failure," he said earnestly. "Your Stonewall Jackson is one of the few great things we have."

"You are saying that to hearten me," Malet answered.

"Am I?" Peter Milman laughed. "You shall judge for yourself."

Although the drawing room was a finely proportioned apartment and contained many beautiful things, Malet had eyes only for his marble group which stood near the window. He had never learned where it was, but it was this work he had believed to be his best. He approached it almost nervously. Was he to find, after all, that he was only one of the second-raters? The group had been exhibited under the name of "The Saviors" and sent one of those heroic American families of Colonial days standing at bay, facing death in the form of "King" Phillip's Indian warriors.

None spoke as he gazed at it. Even Barnes felt that the emotion which he could not fathom had in it some unusual quality. There were tears in Floyd Malet's eyes as he turned in Peter Milman, and his voice was husky. "Yes," he said in a low voice, "it is good. I should have been among the great ones."

"You are among them," Milman assured him.

HAPPENINGS OF WEEK IN NEARBY TOWNS

The Burlington American Legion post are to put on a summer festival August 23rd, and 24th, to obtain funds to furnish their new quarters in the city hall.

Loss last week of 150 chickens of a pure bred strain at the Edward Swift estate, and of lesser numbers at other estates along the lake shore and the Skokie Valley was laid to coyotes or wolves and an organized hunt was planned by residents of the region.

The report that Wilbur Glenn Voliva had, at different times, both confirmed and denied the statement that he was contemplating the sale of a large tract of land located along Green Bay road west of Zion, was given rather general circulation by the lake shore newspapers last week.

Subscriptions for the purchase of a new fire truck had been received by the McHenry American Legion last week to the amount of $2200. The old truck was demolished in June in an accident in which several of the firemen were injured.

It will cost the City of McHenry approximately $86,000 to run their municipality during the coming year according to the levy ordinance passed at the last council meeting.

According to figures compiled by the McHenry county board of review, the average value of farm lands in that county, exclusive of city property and subdivisions, is $14 per acre.

The Rockford Traction lines recently purchased the properties of the Rockford and Freeport Electric railway at a valuation of less than 10c on the dollar of the outstanding first mortgage bonds. This gives the Rockford Traction company complete control of the Rockford and Interurban system.

A bonding bond issue election will determine whether or not the voters of Woodstock desire to enlarge their electric light and power plant, which is municipally owned, to meet an increased need.

Richmond is to have a new water works system, it having been demonstrated in court that the improvement is necessary and should be made at once.

Harry E. Sutton, auto thief, who ran a garage at Darien, Wis., for some time last year as a fence for the disposal of stolen cars, was sentenced in Chicago last week to serve a term of one to ten years in the penitentiary. Sutton is said to have been the leader of a gang that disposed of $200,000 in stolen machines in northern Illinois and southern Wisconsin in a period of two years. His record of 10 thefts in Madison, Wisconsin, in one day is thought to be unexcelled considering the size of the city.

Six months in jail and six months at hard labor was earned by a member of the light fingered gentry who gave his name as John Smith and who was caught in the act of stealing chickens at the Lyle Stevens farm near Darien, Wis., last week.

Walworth county, Wisconsin, in which Darien is located, has had a great deal of trouble with thefts of chickens in the last year and the county board appropriated a substantial sum of money as a reward for the apprehension of robbers of the chicken roosts.

A certificate of deposit for $392.43 dated June 17, 1912, recently found by the owner, was returned to the Elkhorn State bank for collection. It had earned $174.45 interest.

It plans now under way are carried out the Racine county commissioners will establish a public park for the county at Brown's lake on what is known as the Florence Hall property on the east shore.

Nine persons were received at the Burlington hospital last week as the result of accidents. All were auto accidents with the exception of John Javish, air pilot for one of the airplanes at Lake Geneva, who was caught in the propeller while starting his plane, and of Dudwig Sunders, 11 years of age, of Chicago, who fell from a load of hay and fractured both arms.

A move was on foot last week among Kenosha Boy Scout organizations to buy 60 acres adjoining their present holding of 32 acres at Dyer's Lake.

Forty years ago one August Palmer of the village of Burlington purchased one of the newly invented Deering binders, the first to be used in that region, and the neighbors gathered around to watch it in operation, considered it a great success.

Dates for the West Kenosha county fair to be held at Wilmet are set for September 22, 23, and 24th. Evening displays are to be held the 22nd and 23rd.

The Wisconsin legislature has appropriated $5000 to pay a portion of the expense of sending a drum corps and band to represent Wisconsin at the Paris convention of the American Legion in September. The drum and bugle corps of Racine Legion post No. 76 is to be the one to go.
